

Elizabeth II Tells Subjects To Guard Freedom, Tolerance

LONDON (P)—Newly crowned Queen Elizabeth II tonight called on her 600 million subjects everywhere to guard freedom and the practice of tolerance so "we can go forward together in peace."

In a moving coronation message prepared for broadcast to the nations and territories throughout her globe-girdling Commonwealth and empire, the young Queen pledged "with all my heart" to devote her life to the service of her peoples.

"In this resolve, I have my husband to support me," she said.

Elizabeth gave her peoples Britain's high creed. She said: "Parliamentary institutions with their free speech and the respect for the rights of minorities and the inspiration of a broad tolerance in thought and its expression—all this we conceive to be a precious part of our way of life and outlook."

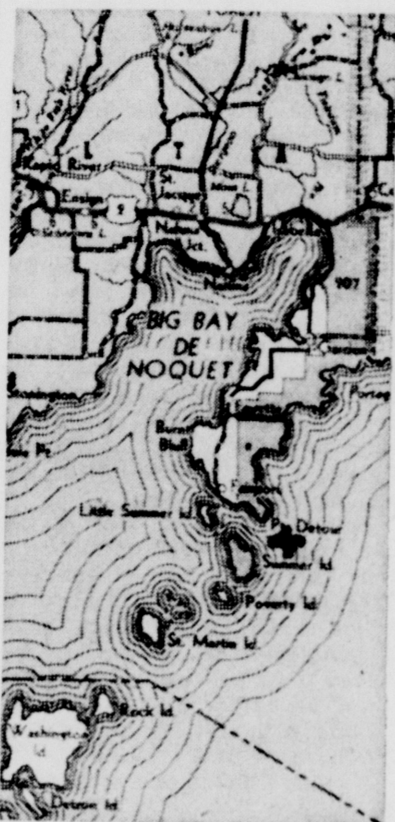

Elizabeth said this message has been sustained and invigorated over centuries by the British family of nations. She said these principles were "as sacred to the crown and monarchy as to its many Parliaments and peoples."

"I ask you now to cherish them—and practice them, too," she said. "Then we can go forward together in peace, seeking justice and freedom for all men."

She spoke of the unity in spirit and aim of Britain's many lands and races. She said, "therefore, I am sure that this, my coronation, is not the symbol of a power and a splendor that are gone but a declaration of our hopes for the future and for the years that I may, by God's grace, be given to reign and serve you as Queen."

She bade farewell with these words: "I thank you from a full heart. God bless you all."

Find Wreckage Of Lost Plane Near Fairport

Parts tentatively identified as those from an airplane piloted by Don Miller of Chicago and last seen Sunday evening when it left Garden today were found in Lake Michigan near Fairport.

Mute evidence of what is believed to be a tragedy that claimed Miller's life are seat cushions, an aileron and a tire.

Lt. Comm. Paul Morosky, U. S. Coast Guard, piloting a helicopter in the search for the missing plane, spotted boats picking up some of the wreckage from the water about two miles southeast of Pt. Detour at the tip of the Garden Peninsula.

Search Continues

A Coast Guard boat from Charlevoix and a fishing craft were cruising the area where the aileron and the tire were found, said the officer.

Search for more wreckage and for Miller's body continued today with the helicopter operating in the area where the wreckage was discovered at 9:30 a. m. today. Pt. Detour is at the tip of Garden Peninsula and a short distance east of the fishing village of Fairport.

Cushions from the seat of the BT-13 surplus army training plane piloted by Miller when he left Garden were found on the Lake Michigan shore about six miles north of Pt. Detour, the conservation department district headquarters reported at noon today.

The conservation department is to organize patrols of the shore area.

Traveled 15 Miles

Miller with his plane, and John and Victor Casey of Chicago in their plane, came to Garden Friday to spend the Memorial Day weekend on a fishing trip.

The Casey brothers, former Garden residents, took off from Garden at 4:45 p. m. Sunday into a leaden sky. Miller followed alone in his plane and disappeared.

Wreckage of the plane found today in Lake Michigan is 15 miles south of Garden.

Some residents of the Garden area said that after Miller took off they heard the engine of his

Humphrey's Defense Of Profit Tax Fails To Convince Solons

By CHARLES F. BARRETT
WASHINGTON (P)—Several veterans on the House Ways and Means Committee said today they were not convinced by Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey's argument for an extension of the excess profits tax on business.

They commented as the committee prepared to hear today from businessmen expected to contend the tax is stifling private enterprise.

The first witness was E. Gray, president of the Whirlpool Corp., St. Joseph, Mich. The corporation recently sent each congressman a booklet spelling out its claim that the tax prevents business growth.

Humphrey pled yesterday for a six-month extension of the tax, now due to expire June 30, to bring in up to a billion dollars in additional revenue. He said this would reduce the federal deficit next year, fight inflation and help arm the nation in an era of what he called unprecedented peril.

Despite adverse comments by some members, House GOP leaders still hoped to push some sort of extension bill out of the committee, the starting point for all tax bills in Congress. But prospects seemed strong that any extension would be modified by amendments providing relief from the tax in certain cases, or other compromise proposals. Humphrey strongly opposed any amendments or any compromise.

Black Picture Given

Committee Chairman Daniel A. Reed (R-NY) told reporters he is convinced that letting the tax expire June 30 as scheduled would "take the shackles off business and produce more revenue."

Rep. Richard M. Simpson (Pa.), another Republican veteran on the committee, took the same line in an interview today.

"I was impressed with the sincerity with which administration officials were able to speak for extension of a tax which they initially opposed," Simpson said. "I was impressed with the grave financial picture they outlined."

"I do not agree that extension of a bad tax, however earnestly requested, is the solution."

Rep. Mills (Ark.), a top committee Democrat, said, "The secretary did an excellent job of presenting what he himself said in effect was a bad case." He referred to statements in which Humphrey agreed with committee members that the tax was "vicious . . . an iniquity."

Meeting Of GOP Leaders Called By Eisenhower

WASHINGTON (P)—Republican congressional leaders agreed at President Eisenhower's insistence today to scrap a proposed ban against further U. S. funds for the United Nations if Red China should be admitted to the U. N.

The decision was announced by Sen. Bridges (R-NH) after a White House meeting of GOP Senate and House leaders. Eisenhower had suddenly called the special meeting this forenoon.

Bridges said the President endorsed a substitute proposal that both houses go on record as opposing the admission of the Chinese Communists to the U. N. under any circumstances at this time.

Bridges added that it was the sense of the meeting, with the President concurring, that this country not only would oppose Red China's admission but would take active leadership in keeping the Chinese Communists out of the world organization.

Bridges and Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.) said today's special meeting was called because of indications that the British, among others, may press for the admission of Red China in connection with a Korean armistice.

Bridges is a key figure in the matter as chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee.

Rhee Will Insist On Withdrawal Of Reds After Truce

SEOUL (P)—South Korean President Syngman Rhee has indicated an easing of his country's opposition to the allied truce plan.

SEOUL (P)—President Syngman Rhee said today South Korea will "co-operate with the U. S. at any cost" but declared he will insist to the end on withdrawal of Chinese forces from North Korea after an armistice.

Rhee said he had received a three-point message from President Eisenhower, but refused to disclose its contents.

The 78-year-old leader's statement came on the heels of a report from Washington that he had proposed to Eisenhower a mutual defense pact plus substantial U. S. financial and military aid as South Korea's price for accepting Allied truce terms.

"Out of gratitude to the U. S., common sense and wisdom requires that we co-operate with the U. S. at any cost. We must accept anything the U. S. President wants, but allowing the Chinamen to stay in our country is similar to accepting a death sentence," Rhee said.

Although Eisenhower's message to Rhee was cloaked in secrecy, Washington sources said it stressed these three points:

1. The U. S. will not be deterred from concluding an armistice on what it regards as honorable terms.
2. The security of the U. N. forces in Korea must be the determining factor in the truce talks.
3. The U. S. continues ready to

U. N. truce proposal may be softening.

Break Threatened

Only Monday, Prime Minister Pyun Yung Tai threatened a break with the Allies because of what he called the U. N. Command's "sell-out" to the Communists.

Washington reports said Rhee called for Eisenhower to agree to support the South Korean government.

Rhee did not elaborate on his statement indicating South Korea's bitter opposition to the latest

Former King Sits On Sidelines, Sees Crowning Over TV

PARIS (P)—For the second time in his life, the Duke of Windsor was on the sidelines today at the coronation of a sovereign of the British realm, a crown he gave up for the women he loves.

The Duke and his wife, the former Wallis Warfield Simpson of Baltimore, watched the coronation of Queen Elizabeth II on television in the home of a close American friend, Mrs. Margaret Thompson Biddle of Paris and New York.

Queen Elizabeth was nine years old when the Duke gave up his throne to George VI on Dec. 11, 1936. He had been King of England for about 11 months, from Jan. 20, 1936. George VI was crowned King in 1937.

Union Jack Planted Atop Mt. Everest

LONDON (P)—A coronation eve announcement by Buckingham Palace disclosed last night that a British expedition has planted the Union Jack atop 29,002-foot Mt. Everest in man's first successful attempt to scale the world's highest mountain.

News that two climbers in a party headed by Col. John Hunt had successfully battled their way to the summit of the icy peak in the Himalayas May 29 was relayed to Queen Elizabeth II last night, a palace spokesman said. He described the dramatic news as a coronation "gift."

Third Attempt

A message from Hunt relayed

to Buckingham Palace said, "All is well."

The final assault on the Central Asian peak on the Nepal-Tibet border—reportedly the third attempt by Hunt's 15-man expedition within the last few weeks—was made by a New Zealand beekeeper, Edward P. Hillary, 34, and a veteran guide of Nepal's Sherpa tribe, 39-year-old Bhutia Teasing.

London newspapers hailed the achievement as the beginning of a new Elizabethan era of British daring. They compared the deed with the triumphs of Captain Cook, Sir Francis Drake and antarctic explorer Robert Scott.

Race With Storms

That a New Zealander and a tribesman from Britain's longtime ally Nepal won the final victory was looked upon here as another symbol—like the coronation—of Commonwealth unity. Reportedly they carried Nepal's flag to the top, along with the British colors.

The climbers raced against the approaching storms of the summer monsoons.

Ten other Everest expeditions in the past 32 years had been beaten back by the numbing cold, fierce winds and lack of oxygen that produces extreme weariness and plays mental tricks with climbers at the extreme Himalayan heights. Eight of the previous attempts to scale Mt. Everest had been by Britons.

Millions Jam London To See Ancient Ritual

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON — Britain crowned Elizabeth II today in a magnificent spectacle of ancient pomp and pageantry, before the wondering eyes of her little son Charles, heir to the throne.

The thunder of guns and the pealing of bells proclaimed to millions massed in London's streets the formal accession of Elizabeth the Queen, the first coronation of a woman since Victoria, 136 years ago.

Crowds massed 25 to 35 deep acclaimed the Queen going from Buckingham Palace to Westminster Abbey, and coming home again. Only 7,500 persons were in the abbey, but millions more could see the 2½ hour ceremony by television, for the first time.

Deluged By Rain

Cries of "God Save the Queen!" blended into a mighty roar from thousands of throats as the Queen's purple and golden coach left the abbey for the main coronation procession, five miles and more through the center of the old capital.

The 27-year-old Queen, who had looked drawn near the close of the long abbey ritual—and once near tears—flushed her smile. The Duke of Edinburgh was beside her.

There was a deluge of rain as the main procession got underway. The inside of the queen mother's coach was lighted by newly-stalled fluorescent lighting which glinted on her coronet and jewels.

Wind-blown rain and brilliant sunshine competed with each other for control of the day. But the

Missing Money Expert Located

WASHINGTON (P)—Frank Coe, former $20,000-a-year secretary of the International Monetary Fund who was listed as "missing" last week by the Senate investigations subcommittee, was reported today to have agreed to appear for questioning Wednesday.

Milton H. Friedman of New York, Coe's lawyer, told newsmen he had notified Roy Cohn, the subcommittee counsel, that Coe was available to testify when wanted.

Witnesses before the subcommittee have linked Coe with an alleged attempt to block 1949 negotiations for a revaluation of Austrian currency. The revaluation was opposed by the Communist government of Czechoslovakia.

Sen. Mundt (R-SD), acting chairman of the subcommittee, said Friday that Coe had been missing from his Arlington, Va., home for two months and apparently had become "fugitive."

Counsel Cohn quoted Coe's wife as saying that she did not believe anyone in the world knew where her husband was.

Coe resigned from his fund post last December after refusing to tell another Senate committee whether he was a Communist or had engaged in espionage.

Death Date Set For Rosenbergs

NEW YORK (P)—U. S. Marshal William A. Carroll announced today condemned atom spies Julius and Ethel Rosenberg will be executed at 9 p. m. (CST) June 18.

Carroll said the date and time were determined after a 75-minute conference between him and Warden Wilfred Denno at Sing Sing Prison Monday.

Carroll issued his announcement as Emanuel H. Bloch, defense attorney, continued his last ditch legal efforts to save the couple from Sing Sing's electric chair.

Federal Judge Irving R. Kaufman, setting an execution date last Friday for the fourth time, ordered sentence to be carried out the week of June 15.

It was left to the marshal and the warden to set the exact date. June 18 is a Thursday — the traditional execution day at Sing Sing.

School Candidates Star In Panel Quiz Program Held By Voters' League

Seven candidates for the Escanaba Board of Education last night held the center of the stage at a question and answer program sponsored by the Escanaba League of Women Voters.

The meeting, open to the public, was well attended. Mrs. Leonard Vader was moderator.

Mrs. Frank Neumeier, chairman of the League's voter service committee, explained the League's sponsorship of the program. The purpose is to present non-partisan, factual information and to impress upon the public the need for being well-informed and to become active political participants.

Candidates Answer Questions

The seven candidates for the Board of Education in the election June 8, at which two will be elected for terms of four years, are as follows:

Charles A. Gunderson, Norman L. Hansen, Fred J. Courter, James S. Davidson Jr., John A. Baribeau, Charles L. Folio and Mrs. N. L. Lindquist. Folio and Mrs. Lindquist are completing their first four-year terms in office.

Five questions prepared by the board of directors of the local League of Women Voters were submitted to the candidates several days before the meeting. The answers were presented at last night's meeting, together with a brief biography by each of the candidates.

The five questions and the summarized answers of the candidates follow:

Question No. 1

Which aspects of the school program do you feel need more or less emphasis: a. vocational training; b. athletic program; c. academic subjects; d. science courses.

Gunderson: All aspects are important but more emphasis should be placed on guidance to assist the student in determining the business or profession he will follow.

Hansen: Academic subjects should be placed first because they are the basis for all future learning. Once out of school the academic aspects of education are seldom resumed.

Courier: Vocational training should be stressed, although the others should not be neglected.

Davidson: Vocational training should rate first. The athletic program is not being over-emphasized in Escanaba public schools.

Baribeau: Academic training is most important; vocational training touches "but a minority of our students"; guidance should be the responsibility of the home. Favored night football to bring parents and students together in a school activity.

Folio: No one aspect should be emphasized to the exclusion of any other. The athletic program is primarily for the benefit of the boys and girls. Escanaba has a good guidance program.

Lindquist: Escanaba now has "a good, sound, well-rounded program." Graduates of Escanaba High School rank well in colleges and universities they attend. Escanaba has a "strong" guidance program.

Question No. 2

What steps do you propose Escanaba should take to recruit and retain a high caliber teaching staff?

Gunderson: Efforts should be made to make the teacher's personal life more happy and comfortable in the community.

Hansen: Higher salaries to encourage teachers of the highest standards and caliber to come here.

Courier: Would hold to the same program now being followed in continuing to bring highly qualified teachers to Escanaba.

Davidson: Efforts should be made to hold beginning teachers longer and reduce turn-over. Questioned the policy of releasing women teachers who marry.

Baribeau: Favored increasing the size of classes so there would be fewer teachers who would receive higher salaries.

Folio: Everything possible is being done to obtain the best teachers. Greatest lack is money to pay higher salaries. More local funds for schools should be made available by the people.

Lindquist: Higher salaries and more new buildings would help to attract teachers and show a progressive community in which teachers like to work.

Question No. 3

Attitudes on physical plant and finances, a. What do you have in mind regarding a future building program for Escanaba public schools? b. Do you feel Escanaba could and should support a junior college?

Gunderson: The community should not be "overly ambitious" with its school program. Opposed the $1,000,000 proposed bond issue of last year; favored the new grade school this year. Favors a junior college but feels the community cannot afford it at this time.

Hansen: Opposes "false economy" of trying to make over old school buildings. Community could afford better schools, but not at the expense of the school program. Escanaba's long-range school building program has yet to be solved.

Courier: Believes the people of Escanaba will in the future build the schools the community needs, including a new Senior High School. This will make the present Senior High building available for a junior college.

Davidson: Feels he is not yet qualified to answer but in any future building program his "training and background" as a carpenter would help bring building economies. For a junior college but the problem is in financing.

Baribeau: Favors long-range planning in cooperation with the Planning Commission. The architectural firm hired by the present Board of Education is more expensive than others. The junior college could come at the end of the building program.

Folio: The building programs depend upon the will of the voters in financing them. Hopes that when Junior High School bonds are retired the people will favor further building. There should be more demand for a junior college before one is established.

Question No. 4

What are the primary factors to be considered in the sale of the Escanaba Daily Press?

Gunderson: Should get as much as possible so more students would benefit through scholarships. Newspaper should be "put up for bids" and the right reserved to reject any or all bids. Wished that the Daily Press employees would be the successful bidder.

Hansen: Cited the Norton will which provides the manner in which the newspaper may be disposed of. Graduates are the beneficiaries but "I am not unmindful of the equities of the employees" of the newspaper. Would sell to the employees "if the price was equivalent to that of other bidders."

Courier: If there is more than one possible purchaser it should go to the purchaser whose price would bring the largest sum to the school district.

Davidson: Due consideration should be given the employees. "I am not convinced the Board of Education, should be connected with the sale of the Press."

Baribeau: The law should be followed in the sale of the newspaper. "The good of the community has always been my chief concern."

Folio: Norton estate executor has "sole authority under the law" for the sale of the property. Believes he will make the best possible decision and respect the rights of everyone involved. As much money as possible should be gotten, but the newspaper should "not fall into undesirable hands."

Lindquist: Legally the solution is in the hands of the executor, who was appointed by the late John P. Norton. Believes that "careful, methodical handling of the case may be the best for both parties."

Question No. 5

What do you understand to be the relationship that should exist between board members and the superintendent? Between board members and teachers?

Gunderson: The school board should establish all policies; the superintendent carry out the policies established by the board.

Hansen: Administrative function is delegated to the superintendent by the board and the "board cannot delegate its policy-making functions." There should be little or no relationship between the board and the teachers.

Courier: There should be no reason for disagreement between the board and the superintendent, for they are both making toward a better school system.

Davidson: The school board is in effect "a board of directors" and the relationship should be similar to that between the city council and the city manager.

Baribeau: The superintendent is administrative head of the schools and there "should be no questioning of his integrity and judgment."

Folio: The superintendent administers the school system and keeps the board informed. The board members should not consult with the teachers, but the teachers may come to the board with their problems.

Lindquist: The board is responsible for policy matters. There should be no personal or individual contacts between teachers and board members in connection with policy.

TROOPERS MOVE IN — Troopers in hunting search for the four escaped convicts narrowed to Delta County. (Daily Press Photo)

Search For Escaped Convicts Centered In Soo Hill Area

The search for four convicts who escaped from Marquette State Prison May 22 centered in the Soo Hill region today.

Michigan State Police, Michigan Conservation Department men, and deputies from the sheriff's department beat the brush today through the swampy, wooded area. A state police plane circled overhead.

An advertising bill sent to the Idle Time Tavern in Skandia from which the convicts are known to have stolen $500, clothing, and tobacco was found in the area by Detective Sgt. A. F. Spratto of Marquette Headquarters, who with his crew of three troopers and another detective has been on the hunt for the convicts for 12 days. His men have had no hot meal in that time, Detective Sgt. Spratto said.

Prison Clothes Found
Yesterday school children at Soo Hill School told a teacher they had seen the convicts behind the school, state police said. The teacher thought the children were imagining things, told a storekeeper nearby, who felt she shouldn't raise a fuss, it was reported. This morning a winebottle of the type stolen from the Skandia tavern was found beside a big brush pile behind the school. Beer bottles were found there too. State troopers believed the convicts spent the night by the brush pile.

"The kids were determined that they saw them," a state police detective said. "We believed them too." Additional proof that the convicts were the men who robbed the Skandia tavern was revealed by state police who said the convicts' prison clothes had been found near the tavern.

Farm Headquarters
Headquarters for the search today was the farm of Fred Diter, Gladstone Rte. 1. Several police cars were parked in front of the Diter farmhouse and a small camp of armed men used the farm as a base.

Diter reported he saw a man cross his field about 8:30 last night. He said he had been ploughing his field and just after he came in he heard his dogs barking. Looking out the window he saw a man hurrying across the field and the dogs barking. The man disappeared into the far corner of the field. The dogs continued to bark until about midnight when the moon came out and the man evidently made his escape, Diter said.

About forty troopers and State Police plainclothes detectives from the entire state are participating in the Delta County hunt, Captain Thor Pearson, district state police commander from the Marquette man's special knowledge. However, the convicts do not know this area, it was reported.

It was reported some clothes belonging to the convicts had been found, but this turned out to be a false alarm. The clothes belonged to some hobo living in a hobo jungle near the Soo Line tracks.

In developments Monday afternoon in this area, a blue Buick sedan stolen by the convicts at Wetmore was found near the Soo Line tracks overlooking the dam on the Escanaba River near US-2-41. The car was known to have been in the spot at least since 7:15 Monday morning, when Byron Ford, Gladstone Rte. 1, a school bus driver, saw it as he was driving his school bus in the vicinity. Ford said he thought nothing of it at the time, since railroad section hands leave their cars at various places near the tracks, but later when he heard the convicts' car had been found he reported his knowledge to state police.

Find Ammunition
Troopers hypothesized the car came down US-2-41 toward Escanaba, saw the roadblock at the Buck Inn and turned into the Kozy Korner Cabins' driveway. The driveway is actually at little dirt road which leads past the cabins down a hill to a dead end at the Soo Line tracks. When they came to the dead end, as troopers figured it, the convicts left the car and took to the woods.

Found under the seat of the car were two boxes of ammunition. One was a box of No. Two 12-gauge shells, Western Super-X brand, and the other a box of 35 Remington shells. Authorities believed these belonged to the owner of the car, a sportsman whose fishing gear still lay in the shelf by the car's back window.

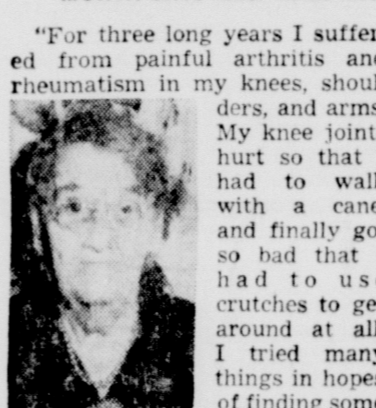

Two five-gallon cans were found in the car.

The men are known to have with them a woman's dress, a tan jacket, and three white shirts, two with short sleeves and one with

THANKS TO O-JIB-WA BITTERS I THREW MY CRUTCHES AWAY SAYS CADILLAC WOMAN

THIS WONDERFUL MEDICINE HELPED MY ARTHRITIS IN LESS THAN A MONTH SAYS MRS. MARY FULK, 232 PEARL STREET, CADILLAC

"For three long years I suffered from painful arthritis and rheumatism in my knees, shoulders, and arms. My knee joints hurt so that I had to walk with a cane, and finally got so bad that I had to use crutches to get around at all. I tried many things in hopes of finding some relief, but without results, so when I read of O-JIB-WA BITTERS in my local paper, I was naturally a little doubtful if it would help me.

Some friends wrote me about O-JIB-WA BITTERS, however, and urged me to try it, so I started to take it. Your medicine helped me wonderfully in less than a month. In about three months, I was so much better that I was able to discard my crutches. I can get around pretty well now for a lady of 82, and do all my own housework and dishes. O-JIB-WA BITTERS also helped my stomach and because of the wonder it did for my rheumatism and arthritis, I have recommended it to many people and they too have received much help from O-JIB-WA BITTERS. I urge you to try it."

Offer Rewards
Also at the Idle Time Tavern, the convicts stole chickens from a farmer and boiled them, according to state police. They also milked a farmer's cow into a gallon jug, a detective said. One of the convicts actually went into the Idle Time Tavern and bought beer, it was reported.

Besides Russell, who is 31, the other convicts are Charles Morrison, 31; Joseph McMacklin, 35; and John McDowell, 39. The other three of the original seven escapees were recaptured.

Warden Jacques of the Marquette State Prison announced a revision in the reward offered for the convicts. If one convict is captured as a result of information furnished, $100 will be paid to the person furnishing the information. If all four are captured in a body as a result of a tip, the person furnishing the tip will still receive only $100—not $100 for each convict. However, if the four are captured one by one on separate tips, $100 will be paid to each person furnishing the decisive tip.

State police expressed regret that no bloodhounds were available to them for the search. They said aid from bloodhounds would have been of great help.

Construction Workers Get 17 1/2¢ Increase

The way was cleared for uninterrupted resumption of all construction contracts in the Upper Peninsula this morning with an across the board 17 1/2-cent an hour wage boost for members of the Operating Engineers, Local 324, Construction and General Laborers, Local 1329; and the Teamsters Union, Local 328.

In addition to the 17 1/2-cent wage boost effective now, the new agreement provides for a 10-cent an hour improvement factor to be effective April 1, 1954. The contract terms agreed upon provide for a two year contract.

Agreement was reached by 14 contractor representatives with union representatives in a 11-hour all-night session which was concluded at 6:30 this morning at the Chippewa Club in Iron Mountain.

William G. Morrow of Escanaba represented the Operating Engineers and the Construction and General Laborers in the negotiations and Arnold Alsten of Escanaba represented the Teamsters. Morrow reported that about 1100 laborers are affected by the new agreement and 450 operating engineers.

The new contract provides for a rate of $2.92 1-2 an hour for engineers on general construction and $3.17 1-2 an hour for engineers employed on steel work.

The laborers' new rates vary from a minimum of $1.77 1-2 an hour to $2.32 1-2 an hour, the high rate for underground work. There are four rate categories for laborers, Morrow said.

The new rates for Teamsters employed on construction contracts were not immediately available this morning. After the exhausting all night session, negotiators had gone to bed and could not be reached.

Previously carpenters had settled for 15 cents an hour increase.

Meet Here On Fire Control

United States Forest Service officials opened a three-day fire control conference here today with personnel of the Upper Michigan National Forest Office of Supervisor C. L. Harrison.

The conference, held every fifth year, will deal with the entire subject of fire control in Upper Peninsula forests.

Attending are James A. Walley, chief of the fire control division, and C. L. VanGiesen, chief of the personnel division of the Regional Foresters' Office, Milwaukee, Wis. Also here for the conference is Dan E. Bulfer, forest supervisor of the Nicolet National Forest, Rhineland, Wis.

Taking part in the three-day program will be forest ranger Walter Wilson and assistant Ray Tardiff, St. Ignace; ranger Bruce Elliott and assistant Malcolm McIver, Raco; ranger Edwin R. Crook and assistant John C. Hanson, Manistique; ranger H. A. Barton and assistant Theodore J. Schmitt, Munising; ranger Arthur O. Schaffer and assistant Harold E. Bergman, Rapid River.

Other members of the Forest Supervisor's office here are Paul J. St. Amant, assistant supervisor; Ray W. Knudson, staff; Frank W. Raack, administrative assistant.

Among the subjects covered today were a review of forest fire records, fire equipment and structures and the over-all picture of purposes and objectives.

Prevention methods, preparedness and suppression of fires will be discussed at future conference sessions.

Beverly Bradley Returns To Home

MENOMINEE — Beverly Kay Bradley returned to her home in Milwaukee Sunday night, the mystery of her 49-hour disappearance still unsolved and likely to remain so. If she had been kidnapped and then returned to the tree stump, about a mile from her grandparents' home where she was found, clues to identity of her abductor are growing vaguer each day.

The 2 1/2-year-old child left the Ingallston Township home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Van Kleeck, late yesterday afternoon accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Ocella Bradley, her 7-year-old sister Pamela and her grandfather. She spent the past week at the Van Kleeck home after spending three days in St. Joseph-Lloyd Hospital recovering mostly from shock.

She was found in such good physical condition, after being missing 49 hours, that Sheriff Edward J. Reindl insists she was snatched on Wednesday, May 20, and returned to the swamp only a few hours before she was sighted by the U. S. Coast Guard helicopter and rescued about noon on Friday, May 22.

Beverly Kay gave no additional clues as to the circumstances attending her disappearance despite efforts of her mother to revive her memory in the familiar surrounding from which she disappeared. Except for mumbling something about being "in a car" and "at a house," she has offered nothing additional. These words were mumbled to her mother when she awoke the first morning after she had been in the hospital.

Mrs. Bradley reported yesterday before leaving for Milwaukee that she had taken the child to the driveway leading into the Van Kleeck home where she was last seen by a neighbor before she disappeared. Questioned on which way she had gone, the child seemed unsure and merely said "yes" to other questions concerning being in a car, that there was a man in the car to one question and that there was a woman in the car to another.

Graduates Long Will Remember Their Happy High School Days

THIS is the annual high school commencement season, when the young men who have completed 12 years of elementary and high school education receive their graduation diplomas from their high schools.

The youngsters probably do not realize it but in years to come they will look back upon their high school years as the most enjoyable of their lives. The memories of their high school days will remain with them vividly through the years.

The young men and young women who are being graduated from their high schools this year are unfamiliar with a full peacetime economy. The formative years of their lives were lived amid either war itself or the threat of war.

They must necessarily give serious consideration to militarism. The world peace situation being what it is, today's young men graduating from high school face the obligation of serving in a branch of the armed forces. They can elect to enlist now and fulfill their obligation early in life or they can wait for a year or two and be subjected to conscription. In a few cases the young men will earn temporary deferments for one reason or another, but with the knowledge that ultimately they will be called into military service.

It is not a particularly happy outlook. Certainly it is not what Americans prefer. But it is essential to the safety of all of us and to the protection of American ideals that we remain on a militaristic footing as long as the threat of subjugation exists.

That is the unhappy side of the picture as it affects today's generation of high school graduates. There is, fortunately, a brighter side. It is the opportunities that are developing for a better world as a result of scientific advancements. These opportunities give new hope, new promise for today's young men and women who are considering their future.

The progress that has been made within the past generation in every field of human endeavor is tremendous. And it must be acknowledged that the human miseries of war have not been without compensation. The stimulus of war has been a factor in the scientific developments that offer new promises for the betterment of mankind.

The atomic age, for instance, sprang into existence from the necessities of war. Surely the secrets of the atom would have been unlocked eventually but perhaps not for many years. Even now mankind is putting the atom to use for peaceful purposes and medical research has taken a long stride forward because of radioactive isotopes, a byproduct of atomic fission.

South Koreans' Stand Is Threat To UN

PRESIDENT Syngman Rhee of Korea never has been noted for his tolerance of viewpoints other than his own. But the attitude of the Korean leader, his cabinet and his legislative followers on the subject of a truce goes well beyond the limits of reasonableness.

The idea of a South Korean revolt against any possible truce decision is fantastic. The suggestion has even been made that ROK troops be pulled out of the line, withdrawn from UN command in protest. Since ROK armies hold two thirds of the present line and their removal would leave their own country exposed to new Communist invasion on a wide front, it is hard to see the sense of this threat.

In truth, South Korean thinking on this whole problem is more colored by emotion than strengthened by good sense. Rhee's objective, to achieve a united Korea, is understandable to all free men. Indeed, it is the ultimate goal of the United Nations itself. It would be strange if feelings did not run strong on the torn soil of the Korean peninsula.

Yet the fulfillment of that objective is not now practically realizable. The Chinese and North Koreans holding the bulk of North Korea are deeply entrenched. Even assuming no greater aid from Russia, they could be dislodged by UN forces only at extreme cost in men and material.

Neither the United States nor any other Allied power represented in Korea has shown any disposition to pay that cost.

Does Rhee sincerely believe that ROK forces which span just two thirds of the front could do this job alone, without vast assistance from the U. S.? Does he imagine that in the unlikely event his armies reached the Yalu River, he would then be able to defend successfully the 500-mile frontier which thereafter would be his?

Rhee and his associates are thinking with their glands, talking in a vacuum of unreality. You cannot unite Korea with rhetoric, and the Korean president apparently does not wish to face that fact.

The goal he seeks is not close. He and his people will have to wait patiently to see it accomplished, just as free men everywhere wait patiently for general world peace, in the face of almost incredible discouragements.

You have to make allowances for college students, says a professor. So parents do—weekly!

Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Bob Johnson, former head of Temple University, now head of the Voice of America, last week told President Eisenhower the following story about the difference between irritation, aggravation, and frustration.

"Two Marines were celebrating rather late at night," Johnson told Ike, "when one of them asked if the other knew the difference between irritation, aggravation, and frustration."

"No," replied the second Marine.

"Well, I'll show you the difference," said the other, and it being 2 a. m., he picked up the telephone and dialed Oliver 2-2525. A sleepy voice answered the phone, and the Marine said, "Is Mr. Goldberg there?"

"You've got the wrong number," said the voice and hung up.

"That," explained the Marine, "is irritation."

"Fifteen minutes later he dialed the same number and the same sleepy reawakened voice answered. Again the Marine asked: 'Is Mr. Goldberg there?'"

"I told you Mr. Goldberg didn't live here. Now don't bother me anymore, I want to sleep."

"That is aggravation," said the Marine.

"Fifteen minutes later, the Marine dialed the same number. This time he asked: 'Are there any messages there for Mr. Goldberg?'"

"Go to hell!" replied the voice.

"And that," explained the Marine, "is frustration."

"And that," continued Voice of America Director Johnson to Eisenhower, "is exactly the way I feel."

HUSTLE VS. FRUSTRATION
When Robert Livingston Johnson was a hustling vice-president of Time magazine, and later a bustling president of Temple University, he never worried about red tape. When he saw something that needed doing, he did it. He might have been irritated but never frustrated.

Reporting to Eisenhower after weeks of trying to see him, Johnson told him how he was now stymied by red tape, wanted to take the State Department's propaganda and information services out of the State Department, set them up as an independent agency.

What Johnson didn't tell the President was that six times he had threatened to resign as a result of frustration over whether he would remain under the State Department or become his own boss.

Here is the complicated story of what Johnson has been up against:

Congressman Taber of New York, the renowned GOP economist, and his GOP colleague, our Cliff Clevenger of Ohio, have decided that the Voice of America and the State Department's propaganda activities should remain in the State Department. They think Johnson is doing a poor job, argue that setting up a separate agency would create duplication, overlapping, cost more money. And since these two congressmen dominate the house appropriations committee they have a lot to say about reorganization.

But Johnson has been cuddling up to Senator McCarthy, has McCarthy's OK to transfer most of his propaganda activities to an independent agency by Presidential decree. This would need no act of congress, would go to McCarthy's committee for emphatic approval.

But, though McCarthy encourages the transfer, some of Johnson's advisers point out that he has to get along with the senate foreign relations committee which passes on all foreign policy matters and which has already recommended that the Voice remain in the State Department. Johnson, therefore, is being urged not to bypass and offend the foreign relations committee.

These are some of the problems he has thrashed out with the President. Eisenhower gave an immediate OK, authorized an executive decree taking all propaganda activities out of the State Department.

What Johnson may not realize, however, is that, whether he works through McCarthy or through the senate foreign relations, whether he is under the State Department or independent, in any case he will need appropriations. And when his budget comes before the house appropriations committee, penny-pinching Chairman Taber indicates privately that he will assign the matter to a subcommittee. That subcommittee will consist of the same unfriendly congressmen—Taber and Clevenger.

Meanwhile, with only 29 days left before the fiscal year expires, not one cent has been appropriated by congress for the Voice of America, for student exchange, for the information services or any other propaganda activity. No wonder Dr. Johnson is irritated, aggravated, and frustrated.

Coal Town Tragedy:

Owner Against Union, Brother Fights Brother In Mine War

By WADE JONES

WIDEN, W. Va.—(NEA)—The shooting war here between the non-union Elk River Coal and Lumber Co. and several hundred striking coal miners has all the tragic qualities of the mine battles which have plagued this hill country for years.

More than 70 cases of violence — murder, shootings, beatings, time bombs, dynamitings — have been reported in the last eight months.

For every act of violence there have been three threats of it, and the tension in this remote forest fastness is so vibrant you can almost see and feel it — like the damp in the dark valleys and the cold in the miles of mine tunnels under the hills.

Families are split and in several homes it's brother against brother and father against son — some out on strike and some sticking with the company.

Even the principals in the case are of the classic mine war mold. On one side is a patrician-nosed, 71-year-old Bostonian named J. G. Bradley, who rules the 80,000-acre coal and lumber empire of the Elk River company with a steel hand.

He has battled unions often in his long reign as president and he hates them like he hates the copperheads and the rattlers in the hills.

His 95-year-old mother, still living, is a member of the wealthy Cameron family of Harrisburg, Pa., which owns the Elk River company almost entirely—coal mines, sawmills, banks, stores, railroads, bridges, houses, roads, even towns like Widen.

On the other side is Bill Blizzard, head of District 17 of the United Mine Workers, which is backing the strikers with food, clothing and medical expenses. "We'll give 'em as much as they need as long as they need it," says Blizzard.

If Bradley and the Cameron family are the archetypes of the stern, non-resident mine owners, Blizzard is the classic model of the rough and ready union leader.

In the bloody mine wars of the 1920s, when thousands of miners and owners' men fought in near-by Logan and Mingo counties and federal troops and even airplanes were called in to quell the battle, Blizzard was a ringleader.

In that battle, Blizzard was acquitted on a charge of helping create an uprising against the state of West Virginia.

Blizzard's mother, who is 88, and lives on nearby Cabin Creek, was arrested in the '20s for helping the miners.

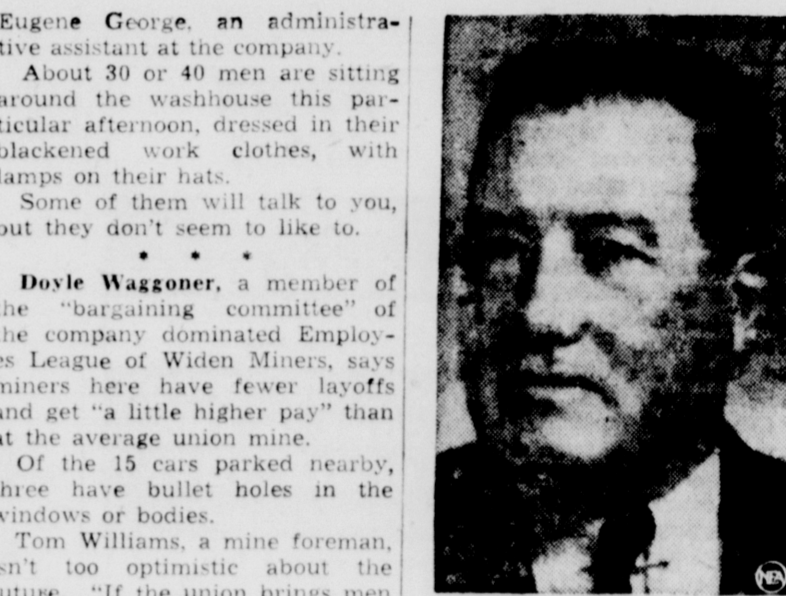

Union officials say that more than 500 men walked off the job last September and that about 225 are still on strike. The rest have gotten jobs elsewhere or gone back to work.

The men still on strike are to begin picketing again any day now, and when they do more violence can occur in clashes with company men.

Widen is a dismal, dirty-looking place of unpainted houses, few flowers, and little grass. There are 300 houses and 1200 people in the town. The houses are all company-owned, and a four-room one without bath rents for $9 a month according to men were dangerous to the company," George testified. "He said they were the flame and get rid of the flame and you would get rid of the fire."

ON COMPANY SIDE is 71-year-old J. G. Bradley, here talking with state trooper at the embattled Widen, W. Va., mine.

ON STRIKERS' SIDE is Bill Blizzard, district leader of the United Mine Workers.

Union officials grant that the Elk River company pays a little higher than the UMW scale, but charge that the company's health and welfare program is badly administered.

Denver Browning, a miner for the company, testified before a governor's committee investigating the strike, that he once smashed his hand operating a power machine in the mine and that a company official called him in and told him he would be fired if he was injured again.

Browning also testified that while at work one day he received a call about the condition of his new-born baby in a hospital. But he said his boss "just said for me to come by the hospital that evening, that it wasn't urgent."

When he got off work he went to the hospital. "They wanted to send it to Charleston General for an operation and said it may be too late," he testified. "Next morning the baby died."

Tony George, of Widen, testified that a company official offered him $20 a day to help break up a committee that was elected to try to establish a new bargaining agent for the miners.

Good Evening...

By CLINT DUNATHAN

WEATHER BREEDER — There were thousands of disappointed people this last weekend—disappointed because the weather failed to cooperate and make a pleasant Memorial Day.

Fishermen who ventured out on the bays were tossed by waves and wind, picnickers were rained out, and tourists kept to their cars and on the highways. Ball games were called off and folks who went to visit relatives sat inside and refereed battles among the children.

Over at Garden Saturday evening the weather was blowing up to something. You could feel it coming, could see it in the eerie green light of the fading sun.

Because it had been such a monotonous day of misty rain, of strong but not violent easterly winds, a little blow would have been welcome just to break the monotony. But not a wind of such proportions as that which struck the Garden area about 8 p. m.

OUT OF THE WEST — We were near Fayette when the wind struck. It wasn't as bad there—just the tail end of the storm. But it was bad enough.

The sky darkened very suddenly with a long cloud blotting out the twilight. Out of the cloud came almost constant flashes of lightning and the ground reverberated with the roll of thunder.

Over the water came a hush as the wind began to shift and then suddenly the bay was a frothy mass of seeping whitecaps hurrying toward the shore.

The wind struck the shore with a blast that bent the treetops like a bow. Rain driven sheets hammered down the way killing the whitecaps, turning the surface into a growing flood of yellowish green.

DAY AND NIGHT — In the woods the rain was mixed with blowing leaves stripped from the trees and with branches broken and hurled with the wind.

Within a few minutes the gale had passed. The western sky lighted briefly again before nightfall set in. Nature had capped a day's dreary report of the weather with an exclamation point.

After the storm we drove to Garden, passing on the way workmen removing a tree that had been hurled from a front yard into the county road.

In the village the street lights were out. We wanted to telephone Escanaba and wondered if the phone lines also might not be out of commission.

PRIMITIVE LIGHTING — Entering a tavern where the telephone booth was located we found the place dimly lighted with candles and one kerosene lamp.

But the patrons appeared to be all happily lighted with a warm inner glow and there was the promise of more gaiety later in the evening. For a dance was scheduled and the orchestra had arrived. The dance would be held in the community hall.

Groping through the darkness of the telephone booth we called Escanaba and were assured the family was okay. The big wind had not hit the Escanaba area.

VIEWING THE DAMAGE — The following day we returned to Garden to view the storm damage and discovered that it was more extensive than we had thought.

Several barns in the area had been flattened by the wind, roofs had been torn from other buildings, some sheds had blown down, and a large number of trees (including fruit trees in orchards) were broken or uprooted by the wind.

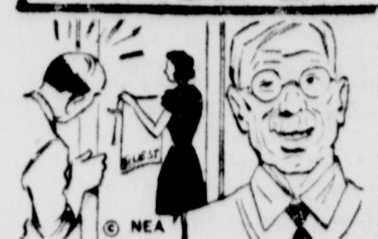

At the Garden airport opposite the new Catherine Bonifas Grade School two airplanes were stacked down near the road. They had weathered the Saturday evening storm without damage.

Later we learned the planes were from Chicago and that they took off Sunday afternoon for their home airport—and one piloted by Don Miller is reported lost. It disappeared from Garden as if swallowed up into the sky's heavy overcast.

So as the weekend closed, our own petty disappointment at the bad weather that had spoiled our holiday pleasure was erased with the thought of the tragedy that had struck the people of the Garden area. The storm damage of Saturday evening was climaxed by the tragedy of Miller's disappearance the following day.

Sometimes there is more the matter with the mechanic than with the auto he is trying to repair.

The Doctor Says... Frequent Use of Laxatives Often Causes Constipation

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D. — Written for NEA Service

In this day and age great numbers of people have, or think they have, chronic constipation. Perhaps this is the result of our diet or lack of exercise. But true constipation is not as common as most believe it to be. It is often confused with spastic colitis, or irritable bowel.

In real constipation the waste matter is kept in the intestinal tract longer than it should be and there is delay in emptying of the bowel. In such cases the waste is hard and dry.

This difficulty can usually be traced to neglect and improper training during childhood. Much of the trouble comes from failure to set aside a regular time of day for the bowel movement. An additional cause is that many people suppress nature's call and this tends to set up bad habits and interferes with the normal rhythm of bowel emptying.

Poor diet, of course, can, and often does, cause constipation. Too many people gulp their food down without allowing enough time for their meals. Many of the foods which we eat are so highly refined, too, that they do not contain the bulk necessary.

In some parts of the country and at some times of year, fresh fruits and vegetables make up an insufficient part of the diet. These foods not only supply a large part of the bulk in the diet but also aid in peristalsis or the wave-like movement of the intestine which carry the contents down through the intestinal tract.

Another great cause of constipation is the abuse of laxatives or cathartics. A great many people have the idea that if they clean themselves out once a week with a good strong purge it will be good for them. When they do this, the normal rhythm of bowel evacuation is disturbed and usually is not re-established for several days.

GOOD BOWEL HABITS

The results of treatment of simple constipation, unless the trouble has begun in childhood or has lasted for a very long time, are usually satisfactory. The underlying cause, whether diet, neglect or abuse of laxatives, first has to be corrected.

Establishing good bowel habits by having bowel movement at a particular time of day, and yielding to the desire to defecate when it comes, are extremely important.

Exercise, too, helps to overcome constipation. It improves peristalsis and strengthens the muscles of the abdomen which aid in the expulsion of fecal matter.

It is most unlikely, as Mrs. D. has suggested in a recent letter, that constipation has any direct relation to a "continuous cold with much coughing and spitting."

Detroit Social Leader Suicide

DETROIT (AP)—Mrs. Katherine Ford, wife of the Detroit Industrialist and banker, John B. Ford Jr., hanged herself in her home Sunday, the Wayne County coroner's office said.

Earlier Mrs. Ford's death had been attributed by a family spokesman to a heart attack.

Mrs. Ford, 53, was a Detroit social leader. Her husband was president of the Detroit symphony orchestra.

Dr. Benjamin Schutzman, deputy county coroner, made the announcement that Mrs. Ford had taken her own life by hanging at the Ford home in Groose Pointe Park.

Police of the suburb said Mrs. Ford left no note. Members of her family said she had not been despondent.

Effect Of Economies On VA Program Will Get Airing In House

WASHINGTON (AP)—The possible effect of budget cuts on veterans' hospital and medical programs is due for a thorough airing in the House this week.

There have been reports that a 279 million dollar slash in funds requested by former President Truman for the Veterans Administration would mean closing of six or more hospitals.

The V.A., however, has said new hospitals may replace old ones in the fiscal year starting July 1, but no hospitals will be closed as a result of budget cuts.

The House Veterans Committee has summoned V.A. officials before it Wednesday for questioning on the reports.

The House appropriations subcommittee handling V.A. funds is scheduled to meet Friday for final action. Subcommittee Chairman Phillips (R-Calif.) declined to comment on reports that some medical care funds may be restored.

Two U. S. Firms Told To Stop Assembling Automobiles In India

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—The Indian government has ordered seven foreign automobile companies to close their assembly plants here within three years but has told five other companies manufacturing cars locally they can continue.

Commerce and Industry Minister T. T. Krishnamachari told a news conference the American Ford and Chevrolet and British Morris companies were among those affected by the closure order. They were told they must concentrate on maintenance and servicing instead of assembling cars.

Those allowed to continue assembly operations included the American Studebaker and Dodge manufacturers.

Krishnamachari said the order aimed at developing a local automobile industry and had been recommended by a tariff commission.

Carl Gray Resigns As VA Administrator

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower accepted "with regret" Monday the resignation of Carl R. Gray Jr., as veterans administrator.

Gray offered his resignation on grounds of ill health. The President accepted it effective June 30.

The exchange of letters between Gray and Eisenhower was not made public and there was no indication when Gray's successor would be named.

Big Business Month Anticipated In June

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP)—June is likely to be a big month for business, some say maybe the biggest for some time.

The National Association of Purchasing Agents believes June should seek the peak of this year's industrial production. The buyers reason that factories will strain to ship as much as possible before the traditional July vacation shut-downs. They are likely to be more general this summer and average a little longer than last year.

Some think, however, that hindsight will show industrial production reached its peak in March and that the long expected slip-back actually started then.

Lull In Spring
They cite the Federal Reserve Board's industrial production index report. Based on 100 standing for the 1935-39 average rate, it shows that output rose from 193 last July, during the steel strike, to 243 this March. But it slipped back to 242 in April and held around there in May. That compares with 211 a year ago.

The slip-back, however, could be accounted for in large part by lulls that come every spring in certain lines, such as textiles and furniture. Still going strong were such lines as auto production, industrial and military equipment, paper, chemicals, rubber, iron ore and home buildings.

Retailing experts are confidently predicting the public will go on buying this June at the same fast clip that developed this spring.

Taxes Due Again
But June isn't going to be all sweetness and light, by any means. For one thing, is the middle of the month another installment on income taxes comes due.

That seems bound to aggravate an already pinching—tight money situation. Corporations that are having trouble finding money to borrow now—and paying increasingly higher interest rates for it when they do—will be in the market for loans to meet Uncle Sam's bill.

In June, too, Congress must fish or cut bait on two things that affect business directly. Both the Excess Profits Tax Act and the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act expire this month. President Eisenhower wants Congress to extend them. Almost all businessmen dislike EPT. But they are sharply divided on the relative merits of freer trade or higher tariffs.

Fat Man Argues Double Airline Fare

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—J. Jack Stoerh weighs 340 pounds. The airlines would like him to buy two seats. Stoerh, who is the Eastern Regional Director of the Loyal Order of Moose has to travel a good deal. He has been waging war for some years, against airlines.

He beat down TWA by asking Ralph Damon, the president, why he should be penalized because of his weight. Another airline capitulated to Stoerh's arguments.

Eastern Airlines was a holdout. But on his last trip—from Pittsburgh to Miami—he was allowed to buy a family excursion ticket.

Stoerh proffered the stewardess a fare and half for his ticket, and not knowing what to do with it, the stewardess only picked up one fare. Jack was chuckling with high glee when he told about it.

Clothing For World's Needy People Sought

NEW YORK (AP)—Half a million garments take a lot of making. That is the number which have been made up new in 13 years and shipped from the sewing room of the Friends (Quaker) Meeting House here.

The Quakers send the garments to devastated areas in 28 countries throughout the world. Hundreds of women from 11 denominations work with the Quakers. Much of the work is done in the sewing room which also acts as receiving and shipping center for outlying areas.

In addition to handling new garments, the center collects and ships thousands of tons of used garments. A number of manufacturers donate materials for the new garments or provide them at reduced prices.

Contracts On Flying Boxcars Investigated

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Senate armed services subcommittee opens tomorrow a new investigation of contracts for C119 Flying Boxcars.

A long list of present and former Air Force officials are scheduled to testify at the four-day hearing, which ends Saturday. Army and Navy aircraft purchases are also tabbed for a checkup by the subcommittee, headed by Sen. Bridges (R-NH).

The armed services committee staff has spent months looking into reports that the big cargo aircraft caused operating difficulties. Bridges said the new hearings were ordered as a result of the study.

ELIZABETH the Queen

By Marion Crawford
Former Governor of New York
XXIV

From her earliest moments Queen Elizabeth has always had that interest in soldiers, uniforms, and military customs which so animated her father.

I remember on one of the earliest of the Monday afternoon excursions on which Queen Mary used to take us, watching the little Princess as we walked slowly round an exhibition of tapestries. "Now take this one," she would say, and then tell us something fascinating about the way in which it had been made and where it had hung in the past.

Queen Mary had much knowledge about such matters which was almost awe-inspiring.

But though usually Princess Elizabeth used to hang on to every word her grandmother uttered, on this occasion I noticed her attention straying.

I followed her eyes and saw, across the room three tall Guardsmen in their khaki uniforms. Princess Elizabeth was watching them intently, with that fascinated concentration a more modern child might bestow on a visiting film star. She never took her eyes off them during the whole tour we made of the exhibition.

I was amused when we got her home to 145 Piccadilly to notice that her first thought was to tell Mummy of this wonderful experience.

Her mother was always very gentle with the children. She would take a great interest in their day's doings, and greet them with a "Well, darlings, and what have you seen today?"

This time Princess Elizabeth wasted no time on repeating the lore about the tapestry which Queen Mary had passed on to us. Instead, she ran to her mother and hugged her, saying, "Oh, Mummy, Mummy. There were three soldiers there!"

That interest in things military has remained with her. She would always stand fascinated at the window of 145 while the Guard marched across Hyde Park Corner in the mornings, splendid in their scarlet uniforms.

"Oh, look, Cravie," she would say excitedly, "Aren't they pretty?"

I used sometimes to see the same expression of interest across her face while she watched a parade of soldiers at a much later date.

However much the routine of her life may weigh on her, I am sure the military side of it will never bore her.

Consideration for Sister
One of Queen Elizabeth's most charming traits was exhibited in her insistence that her sister, Princess Margaret, should be given all the attention due her. This has persisted from childhood.

When Princess Elizabeth, even as a very small girl, felt that visitors or friends were making so much fuss of her that Princess Margaret was in danger of being neglected, Princess Elizabeth would seize the first opportunity to say, "And now you must come and see my little sister."

The first time I saw that thoughtful gesture was when Princess Margaret was so young that she was still using her perambulator, but old enough to enjoy having people round her and to resent finding herself alone when she awoke from the afternoon nap. Princess Elizabeth made it her business to see that her sister was soon a center of admiration.

This trait is still with her. Since her marriage it has had less opportunity for expression; and because, Princess Margaret, with a personality that draws interesting people to her, never has a chance to feel neglected.

Passed on to Children

Queen Elizabeth has passed this on to her own children. An old ghillie who had spent years in the Royal Service at Balmoral and had just retired, was full of praise for Queen Elizabeth, whose charm and thoughtfulness had caused her to be revered by servants not only in her own home but wherever she went.

"And doesn't little Prince Charles take after his mother?" said the ghillie in broad Scots which had to be translated to be readable.

"Everybody loves him here in Scotland; the servants and tenants flock to see him. After a few moments of being the center of admiration the little boy always takes the hand of the nearest person to him—usually a woman—and leads her to where Princess Anne is sitting up perkily in her pram. 'And now,' he says, 'you must all come and see my little sister.'"

Brown Stresses Basic Principles

Basic principles of life which cannot be abandoned regardless of shifting circumstances were outlined to members of the Manistique high school graduating class at annual baccalaureate services Sunday evening by the Rev. A. Barton Brown, pastor of the First Baptist Church.

Developing his message on the theme, "Hold That Line," the pastor urged graduating seniors first to live each day as it comes, pointing out that current problems create sufficient concern without considering the perplexities of tomorrow.

"In living one day at a time we must learn to cultivate certain virtues which will aid materially in holding our balance in the midst of uncertainty," the speaker said.

Among these he listed patience—"There are times when we must be content to wait out our reverses"; sportsmanship—"It takes much more courage to be a good loser than to be a good winner"; and plasticity, the ability to adjust to circumstances and to continue learning from experience.

Secondly, the Rev. Brown admonished graduates to "put your best into your life" by working hard, by being zealous and by taking advantage of all opportunities.

His concluding suggestion was to "follow the leadings of Divine Providence," which emphasizes the individual worth of a person. "For the totalitarian state the individual becomes property; in our way of thinking the individual is the point of reference," he said.

"God is interested in your life," he stated, and "is willing to guide it."

"We, your parents, teachers, pastors, send you out into a needy world; we know you will be great in your stations of life. Remember the old paths of spiritual enlightenment, devoted patriotism, weighed optimism and noble service. Hold that line by the grace of God or the surrender will spell certain defeat."

Other pastors who participated in the service were the Rev. Harold Martinson, invocation; George Drew, scripture reading, and the Rev. Robert Sickmiller, benediction.

Musical numbers were sung by the mixed chorus, J. Earl Cousineau led audience singing of the doxology and one hymn.

Annual class day exercises are scheduled for Thursday afternoon, and commencement will be held Friday night.

To Show 2 Films At Seventh-Day Adventist Church

Elder M. F. Grau, director of Seventh-day Adventist Sabbath schools in Michigan, will be guest of the Manistique Adventist Church Wednesday evening, June 3, at which time he will present two films, "What Hath God Wrought" and "Open Doors in the Orient." The session is scheduled for 8.

The film, a cinecolor feature, "What Hath God Wrought," was recently produced by Donn Henry Thomas, former Detroit newspaper editor. It is a dramatic portrayal of the origin, the development and history of the denomination's sabbath school system.

The picture reviews the conception of the Sabbath school idea by James White, when in 1852 by a dusty New England roadside he prepared the first Bible lessons while scribbling on the back of an empty lunch basket. From that humble origin 100 years ago, the idea has steadily grown until today world-wide Adventist Sabbath school membership has surpassed the million mark.

Reo Clyde, pastor of the local Seventh-day Adventist church, stated that membership growth in the local Sabbath school has shown a parallel advance over the years.

The other film, also in full color, tells of the progress of the work of missions in the Far East.

The public is invited to attend.

Judge To Hear Supervisor Suit

Quo warranto action of Herbert Burns against William Rodman, principal defendant, and the Manistique township board, interpleaded defendant, will highlight litigation at the non-jury June term of Circuit Court, opening here June 15.

Burns, defeated slips candidate for supervisor of Manistique township at the April election, seeks by civil action to set aside the decision of a recount board and a subsequent drawing by lot to break a recount tie on the allegation of fraud, errors and irregularities.

The quo warranto proceedings also ask that the certification of William Rodman as supervisor be cancelled and Burns named as the legally elected supervisor.

In an answer filed to the Burns information Rodman denied all allegations and in a separate motion asked that the designation of the township board as interpleaded defendant be quashed.

Only two criminal actions, both continued for sentence, are listed on the calendar. One, the case of Paul W. McPherson, is for desertion and the other, the people versus Jack Beaudoin, for manslaughter.

In addition to the Burns action, the following civil suits are listed:

First National Bank of Gladstone vs. Graves Brothers as partnership, assumpsit; Otto W. Heinonen and Western Fire Insurance Co., vs. Werner Ammann, trespass on the case; Sylvia Heinonen vs. Werner Ammann, trespass on the case.

Chancery actions include Betsy O. Johnson et al vs. Gottfrid S. Johnson, motion; Charles W. Matchinski vs. Jacob Weber, accounting, and three divorce cases.

The June session will open at 2 p. m., with Judge Herbert W. Rannels, of Sault Ste. Marie, presiding.

Southern Golfer Leads U. S. Open

NEW YORK (AP)—Pat Abbott, a handsome 40-year-old Southern golfer who gave up ambitions to be an actor and turned professional golfer, grabbed the No. 1 qualifying spot for the United States Open Championship from a field of more than 1,600 of the nation's links experts.

Abbott was all by himself out in front of the 268 golfers who qualified yesterday in the first step of the complicated new system of getting into the Open tournament.

Julius Boros of Mid-Pines, N. C., last year's open champion, and 31 other players were exempted from the tests, which saw almost all of the leading professionals get through. A number of the top amateurs failed to qualify.

Notable among the failures was the virtually complete collapse of the famous Turnesa golfing family. Mike, Willie, Joe and Jack, Jr., all were eliminated in the New York City area competition. Only Jim Turnesa, who as the defending PGA champion automatically escaped the first cutdown, is still in the running.

Abbott, professional at the Memphis Country Club for five years, toured the neighboring 6,167-yard Memphis Colonial Country Club layout in 5 under par, 69-66-135.

Call Off Tour For Heavyweight Champ

BROCKTON, Mass. (AP)—Heavyweight king Rocky Marciano—home for the first time since he knocked out Jersey Joe Walcott in Chicago May 15—says his planned exhibition tour of the Philippines and Korea is off. "We called off the tour," he said Monday night, "because it would take too much time. It would be too close to the next fight."

Asked whether he'd rather fight Roland La Starza or ex-champion Ezzard Charles, Rocky said:

"I'm going to fight both of them eventually, but I think I'd rather fight La Starza first. We had a very close fight the last time we met and I'd sorta like to see how much I've improved. (Marciano won a close decision.)"

A decision is expected soon on Marciano's next fight.

Matt Mann III Will Be Swimming Coach

LANSING (AP)—Matt Mann III, son of the famed University of Michigan swimming coach, today was appointed swimming coach at Lansing Sexton High School, the only member of the Five-A League which has not engaged in the tank sport.

Mann, an outstanding swimmer in his own right at the University, has been coaching swimming at Ann Arbor University High for the past three years and working as a part-time assistant to his father, Matt Mann II.

Young Mann will start his new job here next fall. He will teach science at West Junior High School and coach the Sexton team in the junior high pool. Sexton does not have its own pool.

Sports Roundup

DETROIT (AP)—Sports Shorts: The State High School Athletic Association has agreed to sponsor two ski meets next winter, one in the northern Lower Peninsula and the other in the Upper Peninsula. . . . Dates and sites will be set later.

The Association also voted to return additional money, about $33,000, to schools participating in the State High School Basketball Tournament. . . . Schools will get from $25 to $100 for each game played. . . . An additional $5,000 was voted for the Athletic Accident Fund. . . . The money will be paid out where an injury is unusually severe or where treatment is required.

Ray Fagan of the Springfield High School track team set some sort of record last week in Washington. . . . Walking up the 555 steps in the Washington monument is said to be quite a feat. . . . Ray, just to be different, climbed them on the run. . . . His friends said that if it was ever done before, no one around the joint seemed to have ever heard of it.

Which is like the guy who bet his friend he could drink 10 glasses of water without stopping. . . . He did it but refused HiWay Tavern chukkers for 16 saeties in a 16-0 shutout in American League softball play last night at Memorial Field.

In other games the Harnischfeger team tripped Tom Brayak and the Hyde team 8-6 while White Birch handed Kessler's a 10-3 setback.

Dufresne whiffed an even dozen batters while going the distance for the heavy-handed Merchants. He helped his mates along with a three-run homer over the left field fence in the second inning.

Series Of Baseball Movies To Be Shown For Young Players

A series of big league baseball movies for young ball players will be shown each Monday night for the next three weeks at the Escanaba Junior High auditorium.

The movies are sponsored by the Kiwanis Club and all boys under 19 years of age are invited to attend the films.

Managers of teams are urged to attend the films with their charges. The first of the series will be on June 8, starting at 8 p. m.

Kiwanis Opens Little League Play With Win

A bases-loaded single by Craig Peterson in the last half of the sixth inning gave the defending champion Kiwanis team an 8-7 Little League victory over the Lions at Webster diamond last night.

Kiwanis bunched four singles, a walk and an error in the sixth to come from behind for the victory. Ronnie Greenwood, making his first start for the Lions, allowed six hits, walked three and fanned 14 batters before being relieved by Arntzen in the top of the sixth.

Veteran Gene Sequin went the route for Kiwanis. His lack of control kept him in trouble most of the game. Although he fanned 16 and held the Lions to four hits, he issued 10 bases on balls.

Sequin aided his own cause with two for two at the plate. Dave Andrews led the Lions at bat with a homer, triple and single in four times up.

The Kiwanis team committed two errors while the Lions were guilty of three miscues.

Layne Signs Contract With Detroit Lions

DETROIT (AP)—Quarterback Bobby Layne, the greatest passer in the history of the Detroit Lions, signed his 1953 contract, the National Football League champions announced today.

Layne, who steered the Lions to their first NFL title in 17 years in last seasons, holds all Detroit passing records—career, season or individual basis.

He is the third regular from last season's team to sign. The others are halfback Doak Walker and tackle Lou Creekmur.

to collect. . . . "Heck," he said, "I couldn't take your money. That would be cheating. I just went out into the kitchen and drank 10 glasses to see if I could do it first. . . ."

Veterans Memorial Park, in Saginaw, will have a boxing show June 15th. . . . Pat Lowry of Toledo will try to square matters with Al Andrews, Chicago welterweight, in the main eight-round event. . . . Ringside tickets are $3.25.

Michigan's Rose Bowl backfield of 1947—Howard Herges, Bob Chappuis, Rumps Elliott and Jack Weisenberger—will be reunited when the team holds a reunion at Ypsilanti's Huron Hotel June 13th.

Albion's High School baseball team had a batting average of only .158—yet finished second in the Twin Valley League. . . . Ken Harris of Napoleon High won five of six games, yielding only six hits in the six games. . . . Hastings High made a clean sweep of titles in the West Central Conference this season, winning championships in football, basketball, tennis, golf, track and baseball.

What, no tidie-winks?

Dufresne was nicked for a triple and two singles in posting the shutout.

Walter Lake opened on the HiWay mound and stepped down for Sigrid mid-way in the game. White Birch galloped off to a 7-0 lead in the first inning before Kessler's buckled down to playing ball. From there on it was a tight game with Cliff Larson allowing the Birchers only one more run. Franny and Leo Lancour divided pitching duties for the winners and Larson went all the way for Kessler's.

Vern Johnson took the mound for the Harnies and hooked up in a good battle with Brayak of Hyde. John Pieropon finished up for the Harnies and was charged with one of the runs scored by Hyde.

Ray McDonald and Johnson both hit twice for the Harnies and Charley Camps belted a long triple as Brayak gave up a total of eight hits. Johnson and Pieropon scattered six hits from the Harnie mound, with Brayak getting two of them.

SEVEN SPARTANS
EAST LANSING (AP)—Michigan State College will send a seven-man squad to the Central Collegiate Conference Track Championships at Milwaukee Saturday, using it as a testing ground for the NCAA meet June 19-20.

Don Trotter notched the win on the AFL mound, allowing three hits and fanning 15 batters. He issued two walks.

His pitching opponent, Bill Ringuette, hurled a two-hitter while fanning 14 and walking two.

AFL scored one in the first and Delta Hardware took a 2-1 lead in the third. Two runs in the fifth gave the winners' their margin of victory. None of the runs were earned.

Dan Rousseau of AFL collected both the hits off Ringuette. Bud Bessonon worked on the mound for the winning Elks team with Bob Rodman taking the loss on the hill for Paper Co.

Not one of the 132 who tried for Open berths in Michigan on Monday managed to equal par, but one of the surprises of the day was the 73-73-146 turned in at Grand Rapids by Don Albert. 20-year-old Purdue sophomore from Alliance, O., who won the Big Ten golf championship only Saturday at Madison, Wis.

Both Chick Harbert and Wally Burkemo qualified in Detroit, clinching a three-way tie for second with Albert.

James Barfield and William Zylstra, two Grand Rapids pros, were next in line and took two of the three places allotted qualifiers at their home town.

Amateur Glenn Johnson of Grosse Ile qualified in Detroit. All Detroit qualifiers were from the metropolitan area except Eddie Kirk, Flint. Olaf Kay, Coldwater, and Eldon Briggs, Saginaw.

Horton Smith, Detroit professional and PGA president, was exempt from qualifying having finished 15th in the 1951 U. S. Open.

Max Evans, a Detroit pro, qualified at St. Louis with 70-77-147.

Hogan Enters First British Golf Open

By Will Grimstey
NEW YORK (AP)—Ben Hogan is going to play in his first British Open Golf Tournament next month—if he can get a hotel reservation.

"I've had my entry cabled in and I'd like to play," the 40-year-old Texan said last night before leaving for Pittsburgh to shoot for his fourth U. S. Open title. "But there are some commitments I must get out of and I have to get a hotel reservation."

"The hotel problem has me worried. There is one hotel in the vicinity of the course and I understand it is filled up. If I can't get in, I can't play."

Held July 6 - 10

The British tournament will be held at Carnoustie, Scotland, just across the bay from St. Andrews, July 6-10.

Although he has won three U. S. Opens, two PGA crowns and two Masters championships and is generally rated the greatest golfer of the era, Ben has never played in a British event. His only trip to England was as nonplaying captain of the U. S. Ryder Cup team in 1949, right after his near-fatal auto accident.

Red Schoendienst Is Top National Hitter

NEW YORK (AP)—Switch-hitting Al (Red) Schoendienst of the St. Louis Cardinals has spurred to the top of the National League batting race with a .371 average.

In the American League, George Kell of the Boston Red Sox has regained the lead from Washington's Mickey Vernon and is hitting .367. Figures include Sunday's games.

Schoendienst, second last week, displaced Philadelphia's Johnny Wyrostek, who skidded to third place behind Jim Greengrass of the Cincinnati Redlegs.

Greengrass, like Schoendienst, collected 13 hits in 32 trips and moved into the runnerup spot with a .362 mark. Wyrostek had four hits in 14 at bats and his average dipped 12 points to .358.

Vernon dropped to second in the American League at .339.

FT. WAYNE, Ind. (AP)—A gate of at least $15,000 was expected for Chuck Davey's 10-round fight with Sammy Mastrean tonight on another climb toward a welterweight title bout.

The Ft. Wayne Athletic Commission reported a near sellout of the 10,786 seats in the new Allen County Memorial Coliseum.

It will be Davey's second bout since he lost a title bid against Kid Gavilan in Chicago last February by a TKO in the 10th round.

Stock Cars Will Race Here Saturday Night, Start This Weekend

Night stock car racing will make its debut on the Escanaba scene Saturday night, it was announced this morning by officials of the Escanaba Racing Association.

The change from Sunday afternoon to Saturday night racing was made to accommodate fans who were unable to attend on the weekend afternoon dates.

Stock car racing was introduced in Escanaba for the first time this summer, with two racing programs held at the State Fair race track. Last weekend's program was rained out.

A new quarter-mile oval has been installed inside the half mile track in front of the grandstand and a concrete restraining

By Walt Ditzgen

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Tigers, trying everything possible to snap back to life, think movies may be the answer to some of their troubles.

"What we need," said third baseman Billy Hitchcock, "is to have somebody take movies of us to see what we're doing wrong at the plate."

"You're right," added first baseman Walt Ditzgen, who is hitting a feeble .234. "I'd give a hundred bucks if movies would help me shake this slump."

Would Be Worth It

"Heck," said manager Fred Hutchinson, "I think you'd pay five thousand bucks—and it would be worth it."

The Tigers had just run through a two-hour hitting drill and the players, mostly veterans, were gathered in the cool of the dugout.

"Movies are the only way to do it," said Hutchinson. "I can tell you guys a thousand times what you're doing wrong at the plate but you've got to see it yourself. Movies are the only answer."

"Take Walt here," said Hitchcock, "I can see that he's tilting his bat downwards when he swings. . . . but he can't see it."

Dipping Bat

"Hay, you're right, Billy," answered Droppo. "Now that you mention it, I have been noticing that I haven't been controlling the fat end of the bat. Instead of keeping it level, I've been dipping it toward the ground. That's no way to hit."

"Some guys do okay like that," said coach Bob Swift. "Gil MacDougald of the Yanks points his bat almost straight toward the ground before he hits. And Bob Elliott of the Browns has a hitch in his swing before he takes his cut."

But both take a level cut at the ball.

"I don't know. . . ." said Droppo, still unconvinced.

Look At Wanner

"Look at Paul Wanner, when he used to play," said Hutchinson. "He used to just rest the bat on his shoulder before the pitch. But when the pitcher was ready, he'd be ready."

"But the guy didn't hit many home runs," said Droppo. "Heck he didn't," shot back Hutchinson. "One year at Pittsburgh they told him to swing for home runs. He hit 30 or so but his average fell to .310. It's either one or the other."

"Yeah, I guess you're right," said Droppo, and the players walked down the runway, headed for a shower with hopes for better things tomorrow.

Tigers Sign Son Of Big League Pitcher

DETROIT (AP)—The tail-end Detroit Tigers of the American League added another high school performer to their farm roster Monday. He is Larry Sidney Osborne, a 17-year-old six-foot-one son of Tiny Osborne, who pitched for the Chicago Cubs and the New York Giants in the 1920s.

Young Osborne, who weighs 200 pounds, was signed following his graduation from West Fulton High School in Atlanta, Ga. He is a first baseman, and was assigned to Detroit's class A farm club at Montgomery, Ala., in the South Atlantic Sally League.

He swings from the left side, throws from the right

Answer To Braves Will Come In Next 10 Days

By JOE REICHLER
AP Sports writer

Just how good are Milwaukee's amazing Braves?

The next 10 days may supply a definite answer. Charlie Grimm's second-placers are at Ebbets Field tonight starting a three-game series with the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Then comes a four-game series in Philadelphia followed by another four-game set in New York.

By that time, the rest of the league should know whether the Braves are to be taken seriously. Despite their lofty perch, there are still some rival managers who insist the Braves are playing over their heads and will drop back among the second-divisions when the weather gets hot and the going gets rough.

"Up To Stay"

Grimm, the jovial skipper of the Braves, dissents, naturally.

"We're up there to stay," he says. "Our pitching has been great, our infield has been tight and our hitters have begun to find the range. From what I've seen thus far, we're as good as any team in the league."

Certainly the Braves have been the surprise of the league. With six weeks of the season gone they are only a half game behind the league-leading Dodgers. All teams enjoyed an off day yesterday. A victory tonight would put the Braves on top.

This is the same club experts picked to finish sixth and seventh.

Shugging Sophomore

A good part of the explanation third baseman Eddie Mathews lies in the slugging of sophomore (.331 batting average, 14 homers and 37 runs batted in), the resurgence of shortstop Johnny Logan, the fine showing of rookie pitchers Don Liddle and Bob Buhl and outfielder Bill Bruton, and the return from service of batterymen Johnny Antolli and Del Crandall.

Not to be overlooked is the tremendous reception the transplanted Braves are getting in their new home.

Just how important is encouragement and fan enthusiasm to a professional athlete?

"It gives you a lift," says Sid Gordon, the socking outfielder of the Braves. "It makes you want to play that much harder, run that much faster and hit and field that much better."

Praise for Fans

Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick, who, like all baseball people are delighted with the Braves' showing, thinks the Milwaukee fans deserve a big assist for their team's fine play.

"Maybe it sounds like hokey," he says, "but I'm convinced that a team reacts to that kind of support. It puts out a little extra."

With the exception of the Braves, the National League races are running normally. Brooklyn, Philadelphia and St. Louis are up there with the slow-starting Giants right behind them. The New York Yankees, as expected, are setting the pace in the American with Cleveland and Chicago striving mightily to overtake them.

Face Road Test

The Boston Red Sox, surprise of the American League, face their annual test. Can they prove successful on the road? They open a 14-game Western tour in Cleveland tonight. A double loss in Washington Sunday dropped them out of the first division.

If the Yankees are going to be overhauled, it will have to be on the road. The world champions have won 17 of their 11 home engagements. They open a 14-game tour of the West with a game in Chicago tonight. The White Sox and Indians, who will be at home during the next two weeks, have a 4½-game deficit to make up.

In the National, Brooklyn, Philadelphia and New York, among the contenders, will be at home during the next fortnight. The St. Louis Cardinals and Braves will be on the road, not to return home until June 16. It should be an interesting two weeks all around.

Cleveland Pitchers Cry For More Action

CLEVELAND (AP)—Mike Garcia was peeved. The St. Louis Browns had just knocked him out of the box—and in the second inning.

"I need more pitching," moaned the Cleveland pitcher, winner of 22 games last season. "All that rain and this blasted schedule have been murder."

That was a little over a week ago.

Mike and his two pals on Cleveland's terrific Big Three pitching staff—Bob Lemon and Early Wynn—have been complaining like that all season.

HEAT DRIVES PARISIAN IN SEINE

With a heat wave making life in Paris pretty sticky, many Parisians who can't get away to the country take a dip in the Seine River to cool off. The young couple in photo above stops only to douse their hot car with water before joining the bathers in background. It's hot in London, too. W. E. Ford had to fashion an Arab-type headdress from his handkerchief for protection from the sun. In his sightseeing, he spotted one of Buckingham Palace's Grenadier Guards, wearing a tall bearskin and heavy, red woolen tunic. All Ford could do was gaze with "how-to-you-do-it?" awe.

Where Does Michigan Highway Money Go?

By JAMES A. O. CROWE

LANSING (AP)—You might think it would be a simple matter to answer the question, "Just what are the people of Michigan getting for the taxes they are paying for highways?"

But, if you will stick with us a little while, you will find that the total amount paid in gasoline and weight taxes divided into the number of miles of new highways built is by no means a complete answer.

First off, Michigan residents and visitors paid $78,588,933 in gasoline and Diesel fuel taxes and $46,368,193 for license plates based on weight, hence weight taxes in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1952.

Answer Simple
At the start of that fiscal year, gasoline and Diesel taxes had been raised from three cents to 4.5 cents a gallon and weight taxes had been raised an average of eight per cent on commercial vehicles.

So collections of these same taxes for the previous fiscal year ending June 30, 1951, were lower. They totalled $50,788,214 in fuel taxes and $40,490,960 in weight taxes.

In two years ending June 30, 1952, a total of $218,490,099 was paid into the highway fund.

In the same period, the state highway department built or rebuilt 2,728 miles of roads.

The answer to our simple, and admittedly entirely misleading, mathematical problem is that for each dollar you pay in motor vehicle taxes you get about one hundred thousandths of a mile of new or rebuilt state highway—just about half an inch.

Collections Costly
Now, why is this so misleading? Because it ignores—1—The great big bite of $121,081,179 taken in the two years by local governments for their own road projects.

2—The $4,188,483 spent to collect the taxes.

3—The $19,892,512 spent in the same period on bridges, railroad crossings and related work.

4—The $36,479,580 that had to be spent on maintenance of existing state highways, bridges and ferries and for snow removal and the like. 75—A lot of miscellaneous expenses like administration of the highway department, making up the deficit at the Straits of Mackinac ferries, grants to the employees' retirement fund, and so on for a long time.

Well, this much shows you we have a long way to go to get a true picture of what we are getting for the highway taxes we pay.

In the next installment, we'll take a closer look at all the money that comes out of these taxes before any money is spent on state highways. And in the installment after that, we'll see what the state does with the money it has left.

Cold War Of Chinese Continues Unabated

By SPENCER MOOSA

TAIPEH (AP)—The cold war between Communist and Nationalist China never ceases but the hot war is of almost negligible proportions.

The occasional small-scale commando-type raids on the mainland from offshore islands are so routine that most of them go unrecorded. Every now and then, reports are put out of encounters between armed Communist junkies and small craft manned by island-based Nationalist guerrillas.

No Commando Raids

When President Eisenhower on Feb. 2 lifted the ban on Nationalist operations against the mainland, the general expectation was that commando-type raids would be stepped up.

Those expectations so far are unfulfilled.

Some cynics say that the wraps were taken off Chiang Kai-shek—but Chiang had nowhere to go. Many people here feel that any full-scale invasion of the mainland is out of the question without full-scale foreign—in other words, American—support.

Chiang and other top Nationalists repeatedly have said no aid in ground forces will be required. That is another way of acknowledging that air and naval cover would be needed, also full-scale logistical support.

However, there no longer is any fear in Taipei of a Communist invasion of Formosa. For months there has been no talk of any signs of Communist preparations for such an invasion.

U. S. Maj. Gen. William C. Chase, whose Military Assistance Advisory Group (MAAG) is training Chiang's armed forces, frequently has expressed confidence the Communists will fail in any attempt to seize Formosa. This confidence was based on the guardian presence of the U. S. Seventh Fleet.

Though nothing has been said officially, it gradually has become apparent that a previous understanding must have been reached under which no action beyond commando-type raids would be undertaken by the Nationalists without American approval.

This probably accounts for the fact that the Nationalist Air Force has not conducted raids on the mainland. Such raids logically could be expected to provoke Communist retaliation in kind.

The cold war goes on in unabated fury. In Taipei, Nationalist radio stations broadcast a constant flow of vituperation against the Reds, portrayed as Soviet stooges bent on converting all China into a Soviet colony. The Reds reply in similar language.
